Paroon Shark

Description
The Small Hi-fin Pangasius Shark, commonly referred to as the Paroon Shark, is a striking freshwater species known for its tall dorsal fin and shark-like profile. Native to Southeast Asia—particularly the Mekong and Chao Phraya river systems—this fish is admired for its graceful swimming and potential to grow into a true aquarium showpiece. With proper care, good filtration, and a spacious tank, this fish can thrive and become a centerpiece in any collection. Feeds on pellets, frozen foods, and occasional live treats.
