Description

Two Little Fishies Marine Snow is a unique planktonic food supplement designed specifically for filter-feeding marine invertebrates like corals, sponges, clams, and other aquatic creatures. Developed by Julian Sprung, this product mimics the natural planktonic blooms found in the ocean, providing a continuous, nutrient-rich food source for your reef tank inhabitants.

Marine Snow offers essential nutrients such as amino acids, fatty acids, and vital trace elements, promoting the growth, health, and vibrant coloration of your aquarium’s filter feeders. The fine particles suspended in Marine Snow are easily consumed by a variety of marine species, helping to create a thriving, balanced marine ecosystem in your tank.
