

Filterwool / Filter Floss 1kg

Price: R245.00

Description

Aquarium Filterwool is a filter medium used in most aquariums and filters. Aquarium Filterwool can be used as both mechanical and biological filtration media. It can be used to remove waste and impurities from your aquarium. This product can be used in conjunction with various other filters (example Corner Filters) to increase the overall effectiveness and health of your system which in turn improves the health and vitality of your aquatic life. Another function of filter wool is it provides a place for beneficial bacteria to flourish which is very effective in keeping your water naturally clean. When cleaning it and it doesn't bounce back to the original shape, you know it's time to replace. Aquarium Filterwool is particularly good at trapping fine particles.