Description

The Julii Cory (Corydoras julii) is a charming, peaceful bottom-dwelling catfish native to the freshwater rivers and tributaries of Brazil in South America. Known for its intricate spotted pattern and active nature, this species is a favorite among aquarists. Julii Cories prefer being kept in groups of 4 or more and thrive in well-maintained community aquariums.

They enjoy a diet of high-quality sinking pellets, algae wafers, and frozen or live treats like bloodworms or daphnia.
